

Addressing your spectrum of exposures

Solutions for the wind energy industry

The wind energy industry is advancing at breakneck speed ... and needs an insurer with the specialized skills, far-ranging insurance products and financial power to keep pace with its exposures. Zurich Global Energy®, a longtime leader in insuring the energy industry, is that insurer.

We provide end-to-end insurance and risk management solutions to the wind industry. Whether you need to protect against property damage and loss of income at a single farm, third-party liability claims for a large utility or perils that threaten turbines in transit, Zurich has the answers.

Superior underwriting

Zurich knows the wind industry well and infuses that knowledge into coverages tailor-made for your risks. We provide both high-limit, high-quality capacity for large utilities and custom-fit, quick-turnaround coverage for individual operators. Our solutions can start at construction ... and offer the protection wind farms need well into the future. Our coverages include:

Property (stand-alone or blended programs)

- Physical damage (all risks)
- Time element
- Boiler & machinery
- Construction
- Builders risk
- Business interruption

Marine

- Ocean cargo
- Blue and brown water hull
- Liability insurance

Casualty

- General liability, including public and products liability
- Contractors pollution liability
- Time element pollution extension
- Onshore liability

Services make a difference

Zurich makes customer service a priority. We take pride in differentiating our responsiveness from the rest at every turn — from underwriting to policy issuance through claims.

Our policyholders can benefit from engineers who specialize in the exposures of the energy and wind industry. These specialists work shoulder to shoulder with our insureds around the world to help develop sound engineering philosophies — and translate them into practical loss control programs. When a policyholder suffers a loss, our claims staff has the experience and resources to respond with the right strategies at the right time to mitigate damages and optimize outcomes for our policyholder.

With specialists in many locations, we are convenient to your home base — and we combine this local service with the benefits of an international network that can address your needs virtually anywhere in the world.

A record of strength and commitment

Zurich has been insuring energy operations for more than 20 years and carries a rating of “A” from A.M. Best. That’s a market commitment and financial strength the wind industry can count on now ... and through the risk challenges ahead.
