

Ocean cargo insurance

As one of the world's most experienced ocean cargo underwriters, Zurich offers tailor-made protection for regional and international transit exposures. Through our international network, we can also provide locally issued policies in more than 50 countries.

Zurich's asset protection specialists are available to assist in developing customized risk control programs designed to reduce exposures, and thus help minimize losses associated with cargo transport and storage.

Marine customer profile

Our targeted classes include, but are not limited to:

- Manufacturers
- Distributors
- Importers/exporters

Marine solutions

Features of our ocean cargo policy include:

- Underwriting tailored for each individual risk with a focus on specific coverage needs
- Comprehensive transit insurance covering merchandise warehouse to warehouse

Coverage can be enhanced to address:

- Domestic transit
- Warehousing
- Goods in processing
- Installation

Risk engineering and claims services

Zurich's risk engineers* work in collaboration with customers to determine a practical approach to identifying and improving risks while reducing losses. This staff of marine specialists, experienced in mitigating ocean cargo exposures virtually anywhere in the world, can provide an assessment of a marine customer's specialized risks.

In addition, our staff of trained marine claims specialists can manage complex cargo claims quickly and effectively.

Using Zurich's international network, claims can be serviced locally in more than 50 countries. We are committed to collaborating with our clients through each step of the claims process.
