Risk engineering and claims services

Zurich understands the highly technical and often complex risk engineering and claims needs of today's energy customers, which is why our energy team includes some of the most experienced and capable talent in the insurance business. Our energy risk engineering professionals work in close collaboration with customers to help provide thorough assessments of risk as well as recommendations to help reduce losses.

Our global network of more than 900 risk engineering professionals* working out of 39 countries, 30 North America-based engineering/specialists with specific energy industry experience, including individuals who worked in the energy industry before joining Zurich. Some bring more than 20 years of experience to the table – experience that counts when the goal is to reduce the risk to a customer's property and people.

Zurich's experienced energy claims professionals work equally hard to help customers after a loss. Our Executive General Adjusters average 25 years experience and possess extensive knowledge of exploration and production, drilling, work over, well service, energy service and pipeline operations. Our energy claims team members are part of a Zurich Claims Network of more than 3,000 professionals in North America and more than 8,000 around the globe.
